THE BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1890.

Some Teachings of the Election.

An army always has a mob at a disadvantage and it alters this advantage but little if any, that the mob is most eminently respectable. Young Delancy Nichol showed by his action that he had more faith in wicked Tammany than in the eminently respectable P. M. L. in matters political. According to all principles of virtue, morality and good government the People's Municipal League should have scored an overwhelming victory, but the ordinary laws of the universe are not set aside even in the interest of virtue. When our good people wake up to the realization that politics is in a certain sense war, we may look for the overthrow of political combinations like Tammany Hall. Reading the Evening Post and discussing fine spun political theories on the train, in the office and in the home, will not often accomplish great political results.

Doubtless in '61 the respectable citizen, used to the comforts of home and the pleasures of a congenial business, found little to attract him in the regiment in which he enlisted, composed as it was of all sorts and conditions of men. When the banker found himself elbow to elbow with his butler of the day before, it doubtless somewhat shocked his sensibilities; and possibly receiving peremptory orders from the sergeant in whom he recognizes last year's coachman, likewise gave him an odd sensation, but he never allowed these ordinary distinctions of life to stand in the way of serving the republic. In those days too, many a captain found himself in command of an evil lot, judged by the standards of the church and Sunday-school, but so long as his men fought well and obeyed orders, he overlooked the additional fact that they cursed and swore and lied, and stole and drank, and violated some of the ten commandments at almost every available opportunity. He would doubtless have preferred a higher order of citizens, but he accepted the situation as he found it. Can you fight, will you fight, and under which flag will you fight, were the pertinent questions.

Of course, the man in the ranks, whether laborer or banker, who was there out of sincere patriotism to fight for a principle, made the best soldier, but thousands of men fought long and hard and well, who found themselves in the army from no higher motives than money, love of adventure or the satisfaction of escaping from more dangerous or uncongenial places.

Now the political army is in no wise different from the military army in its personal. It contains many who are fighting on principle, and these may be rich or poor, learned or ignorant; and then on the other hand self-seekers and soldiers of fortune are to be found in all ranks from the highest to the lowest. Nor is this the worst: he who would actively engage in politics must neither be surprised nor be forced out or back, because he finds himself brought in contact with citizens of the republic whom he would not consider desirable bed-fellows. It is indeed true that "politics make strange bed-fellows;" it must be so. The proverb is often upon the lips of the sneering, hyper-critical stay-at-home statesman, when alluding to the political action of his practical associate, but the critic forgets that were it not for a few of his friends, those undesirable bed-fellows would soon occupy the whole lodging house. It would soon become a question of, not a bed, but a roof.

Tammany succeeds against all opposition, because it realizes first that every man has a vote and has a right to it; and next because it has an organization in which capacity is the essential of leadership in a captain of ten or of ten thousand. Let the rest of us take a leaf out of the Tammany book of experience.

Westminster Entertainment.

One of Bloomfield's finest audiences filled to the doors, Westminster Chapel Wednesday evening; and its verdict upon the efforts of the Whatsoever Circle of the King's Daughters was "well done." The taste and good judgement displayed in compounding the programme deserves nothing but praise, and the execution of it in most particulars fell little short of all that could be desired. The good natured self possession of young Miss Seymour was delightful to contemplate and her handling of her violin was as pleasing to the ear as she was to the eye. If she does not marry too soon she promises to make a fine musician. The omission of the organ from the entertainment was a great disappointment, but for particulars the reader is referred to another column.

The Election.

The Democratic party obtained a substantial victory in this state last Tuesday. Sensible Republicans will not indulge in any whining but accept the result, and give their opponents due credit for their victory, devote some time to reflection, endeavor to discern the causes that led to defeat, and patiently bide their time when their opponents will give them opportunity to return the compliment. The composition of the congressional delegation from this State, together with the members of the State Senate and Assembly as indicated by the latest returns will be as follows, Republicans in SMALL CAPS and Democrats in Roman. Glen Ridge Notes.

Have the people of Glen Ridge ever thought that this beautiful place is actually without a school-house? A few of the property-holders are waking up to the fact that one thing Glen Ridge needs, now that it has a Club house, a Hall and a Church is—a school-house. Why it should go hand in hand with the church!

When one has a valuable gem one wants for it a suitable setting, and when a locality has a valuable school it seems only fit to provide for it suitable quarters. What place ever really amounted to anything without one? The sight of a school building would no doubt attract people who have children to this place, whereas they might otherwise take up their abode elsewhere.

The Glen Ridge Church presents a sort of stayed and we might almost say elderly appearance already, the stones near the ground certainly remind one slightly of age.

Did anyone ever notice so many bicycles in use as there was upon election day? Of all sorts, sizes and conditions, and propelled by all sorts, sizes and conditions of men; in every stage from that of extreme awkwardness to that of perfect ease and grace.

The stage which Miss Rouget has provided to convey her pupils from Bloomfield is a great convenience and enables many to send their children who otherwise would be unable to do so.

All the articles from the grocery table, spoken of in last week's CITIZEN, were not disposed of on Saturday, and the sale was continued on Monday. This sale in Miss Northall's school-room, added not a little to the sum already raised.

On Election Day there were some very exciting foot-ball games on the Glen Ridge outing-grounds. The game of the day was played in the afternoon. The Montclair Bible Class against the Glen Ridge First. The game was an interesting one; many were the cheers given for the good points and much the superfluous advice offered to those actively engaged. Although the day was a cold one, there were many ladies to witness the sight, which seemed to add vim to the players. There were many people, both ladies and gentlemen, who had come from the ground-breaking upon the site for the new Westminster Church. Among the most interested of the spectators were Wilson Lyon, who sprained his ankle some time ago, and Will Taylor who sprained his in the morning, (both at foot-ball—but still, you know, it is not a dangerous game at all.) It was unfortunate for the Glen Ridge team that two of their best players should be so laid up. We are unable to say what "might have been" had they been playing, but we can say that the score was fourteen to nothing in Montclair's favor. We also noticed a game of tennis being played at the same time. We looked with surprise upon it, thinking that tennis had become a thing of the past, for this season at least.

As a remedy for the deficient water supply in parts of Glen Ridge, it has been proposed that the Orange Water Co. purchase water from the Montclair Water Company. The Montclair Company receives $25 per annum per hydrant, while the Orange Company get $60 per hydrant from Bloomfield. There is apparent room for profit in the suggestion.

The atrocious condition in which the Town Committee allow Clark street to remain is deemed an outrage by the people of Glen Ridge. Clark street is a principal thoroughfare between Ridgewood and Bloomfield avenues. The demand for its repair is a very reasonable one and deserving of attention.

The assertion that Glen Ridge is insolent in its demands on the Township Committee is positively denied. A comparison of figures would doubtless show that it is probably the least favored section of the town at the hands of the Town Committee.

A meeting of the Governors of Glen Ridge Club will be held Saturday evening, Nov. 8th, at which the dates and detail of the season's entertainments will be arranged.

The Montclair Town Committee is making improvements to the Montclair end of Lincoln street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tenny gave a brilliant reception to their friends last Tuesday evening in the Montclair Club house. Numerous society people from Glen Ridge, Montclair, Orange and Newark, were present. Davis furnished the supper, and Isdar the music.

Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler, of Brooklyn, and Rev. Dr. A. H. Bradford, both preached to a large congregation in the Glen Ridge Church, last Sunday.

The opening of Douglass Road was a wise movement. It opened up a fine tract of land, and rendered a large section of country of easy and quick access to the Glen Ridge depot.

Contractor Brasit was tendered a vote of thanks by the Town Committee on Monday night for the excellent work performed by him in opening Douglass Road.

Gentlemen of the Township Committee, how about the men who labored with you with might and main to get you to open Douglass Road? They will doubtless get their thanks from the people.

A frightful gulch exists on the south side of Lincoln street descending to Ridgewood avenue. There is imminent danger of a serious accident at that point. The gutter should be paved. It is a shame for the Township officials to allow this disfigurement to the prettiest part of our town to exist. Pave the gutter!

Glen Ridgites were early at the polls on Tuesday. They turned out well. It is to be hoped that the same spirit will be manifested next Spring at the local election.

The flag stone walk on Washington Ave. fronting Mrs. Norris's place is a great improvement.

A ridiculous apology for a crosswalk exists at the junction of Ridgewood avenue on Washington street.

We desire to correct a mistake in last week's CITIZEN. The statement was made that "the Glen Ridge ladies desire as usual a great deal of credit for their untiring efforts in regard to the fair for the benefit of the Hospital Fund." The article should have read: "The Glen Ridge ladies 'deserve' etc.

[The blame must be put upon THE CITIZEN Cat. We are now feeding him three times a day, and the copy is safer.]

REDUCED PRICES
—AT—
CRESCENT DRUG STORES
ON ALL GOODS.
It will pay practical people to read the following advertisement carefully:
The Crescent Drug Company were the originators in Newark of selling Drugs, Medicines, etc., at Reduced Prices.
Not so with other Druggists! There are a few conspicuous instances where other Druggists in Essex County sell Patent Medicines ALONE at Reduced Prices as LEADERS to tempt customers; but these Druggists are like the unwilling workman who only does his task while under the vigilant eyes of an overseer. It is a forced exaction, not a voluntary tribute.
For instance—we sell regular $1.00 Patent Medicines at 75c., 70c. and some as low as 68c. One or two Newark Druggists single out one such Patent Medicine and offer it to their customers for 67c. Yet these same Druggists repeatedly (year after year) charged $1.00 for this same Patent Medicine until the Crescent Drug Company opened a Drug Store and from the beginning sold everything at Reduced Prices. Did these Druggists Reduce Prices on other Goods? No! They still continue to sell Drugs, Perfumery, Prescriptions, Soaps, Brushes, Sponges, Combs and other goods at the same old schedule of HIGH PRICES.
Reader, do you realize that when you pay your Druggist 5c. per ounce for Borax, Alum, Soda, Flaxseed, Sulphur, Salts and for other Drugs, that you are paying at the rate of 80c. per pound for these goods? We sell Borax at 12c. per pound; Alum, 8c. per pound; Bicarbonate of Soda at 8c per pound; Flaxseed, 10c. per pound, and everything else in same ratio. We do not cut Prices on a few Patent Medicines to lure you into our Store and then charge you High Prices for Drugs, Chemicals and other Goods. Everything in the Crescent Drug Store is sold at Reduced Prices! If you have never traded with us, you must certainly have an acquaintance who has traded with us. Consult such acquaintance and obtain his or her opinion as to the advantage to be gained by trading with the Crescent Drug Company. We will be satisfied with the verdict.
We employ Four Pharmacists (men, not boys) in our Prescription Department. Prescriptions Compounded at One half the Price charged by other Druggists.
We have no Cigar Counter and no Soda Water Fountain to interfere with our legitimate Drug Business.
Our Drug Stores are closed all day on Sundays.
We have the Largest and Finest Stock of Sponges in New Jersey. Prices absolutely Lower than at Wholesalers.
Hair Brushes, Tooth Brushes and Nail Brushes. We carry a large assortment and sell at about One-half the Lowest New York City Prices.
Below we publish a Partial List of Goods with Prices. You can judge from this List how Low we sell everything in our Store:

A Few Words About Wines and Liquors.
We do not affect to call ourselves Liquor Dealers or Wine Merchants. We do not sell Wines and Champagnes by the Case. As conducting a thoroughly stocked Drug Store, we carry on our shelves and in our cellars a complete line of Spirituous Liquors and Wines, as is usually so kept by Druggists (no apology for handling these goods is intended in these remarks), and in confining our attention strictly to the few brands we have for sale, we are enabled to serve the public with the Purest Goods only. Druggists, as a rule, bear a reputation of keeping in stock Liquors of poor grade and of charging for same exorbitantly high prices. Not so in our case. We desire to impress all consumers of our Wines with two facts:
1st.—That our Goods are exactly as we represent.
2d.—That we retail our Liquors, etc., on very close margin of profit and look upon the quality of the Goods as the best recommendation to consumers to purchase their Drugs, Toilet Articles, etc., in our store.
Invalids, aged people and others can rely implicitly upon the quality and therapeutical value of our goods.

The County Coroner made an investigation into the circumstances of the case, and gave it as his opinion that it was purely accidental. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, and was conducted by Rev. Elbert Clement, of the Watsessing M. E. Church.

It is dangerous to neglect catarrh, for it leads to bronchitis and consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh in all forms.

There was an excellent audience at the Baptist Church on Wednesday evening to hear Rev. G. C. Williams lecture on the Hottentots. Mr. Williams is a most entertaining speaker, keeping his audience in good humour while he pictures native life in south Africa, and at the same time showing in a most conclusive manner the great benefits that have come to the people through Christianity. His collection of implements of war and other articles from Africa whose use he explained added greatly to the interest of the lecture.

NEW WESTMINSTER PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Westminster Presbyterian Congregation having determined to erect a new house of worship, the plans drawn by Architect A. B. Jennings of New York, the exterior of which is represented in the accompanying illustration were adopted. The church as planned will be an odd structure and from the nature of the building, a good perspective is hard to get, owing to the lot at the junction of Franklin and Fremont avenues on which the new edifice will be situated being of the peculiar shape of an obtuse angle. Taking this fact in view, the building committee thought it not desirable that the building should face either of the avenues, so the plans were drawn to make the main facade front on the apex of the angle.

The structure will be cruciform in shape, being rather a Greek than a Roman cross. The arms of the cross will end in two circular bays, through which there will be large porched entrances with ample vestibules. The bays will be lighted with a row of square windows set with small square panes of colored cathedral glass, which will extend around the entire bays above the roofs of the porches. In the centre of the main facade will be a round tower one hundred and fourteen feet in height crowned with a conical shaped slate covered roof terminating in a gilded ball. Immediately below the cornice of the tower roof will be a lantern-like belfry with three rows of open square windows extending completely around the tower. Below the belfry there will be eight high arched latticed windows with one large arched window below glazed in beautiful designs in stained glass.

The main entrance will be through a porch on the ground floor of the central tower, with another to the right of the same. Again to the right of this entrance will rise an ornamental turret with a cone shaped roof to the height of seventy-five feet. This will be pierced with a row of oblong latticed windows which will light the stairway leading to the choir and organ loft including the part of the edifice. The roofs will all be conical in character, covered with slate, and will terminate on all points in finials of gilded balls. The ridges of the roofs will be about seventy feet in height above the sidewalks.

The interior of the church will be handsomely finished, and will present in its character as many unique features as the exterior. The seating portion or auditorium will be entirely in the cross section of what is properly the nave and transept wings. This will be arranged in the form of a broad and extended semi-circle, each tier of pews or seats being higher than the one in front, and each seat fronting the pulpit, which will be placed in a deep recess or alcove in the rear of the edifice. The auditorium will be forty-six feet in depth, and one hundred feet wide across the transepts. Immediately inside the front entrances will be a large vestibule with a floor of mosaic tile. In the large tower on the second floor will be a circular room, devoted to the use of the pastor as a study, the same being approached by a private stairway from the left of the grand vestibule.

No particular style of architecture has been followed by the architect in designing his plans although he has favored the Romanesque somewhat. His aim has been, and wonderful success he has had too in utilizing and making the most of a small and peculiarly shaped and situated lot. He has likewise produced plans of a structure of surpassing beauty. The entire building will be built of light Bloomfield stone with darker trimmings, all to be taken from the same local quarry and laid in straight cut ashlar.

The interior wood work, consisting of pulpit, platform, pews, gallery front, organ cabinet and ceilings, will be in quartered oak and cherry finished in natural colors. The roof will be supported on heavy open trusses which will be ornamented with scroll and fret work grained to imitate oak. The building will be lighted with gas and will be heated by furnaces which will be placed in the cellar. The seating capacity will be about nine hundred, and the pews will be so arranged that every aisle separating them will end at one of the numerous exits. With this church, in addition to the other handsome temples of worship already erected, and the magnificent new Church of the Sacred Heart, now in course of erection, Bloomfield will have some of the handsomest houses of worship in the whole State of New Jersey.

The organ and choir will be located in an alcove back of the pulpit. The present church edifice will be used for Sunday-school rooms and other meeting purposes. The estimated cost of the new edifice is $25,000 exclusive of the organ and interior furnishing $30,000 of this sum has been raised. Ground for the foundation was broken on Tuesday afternoon of this week. The contract for the mason work has been awarded to Courter, and the carpenter work to Simonson. The Committee who have the management of procuring plans and estimates for the new church consist of Messrs. E. W. Sutton, President; L. R. Barrett, L. H. Benedict, Frederick Crane, W. S. S. Rowland, R. S. Rudd, James C. Beach, and G. Lee Stout.

The history of the Westminster Church and its successful career is probably familiar to most of the old residents of the town. For the benefit of recent comers, we here give a brief recapitulation of it. On December 19, 1869 application was made to the Newark Presbytery for the organization of a new Presbyterian Church in Bloomfield. Sixty-seven names were on the application, chiefly members of the First Presbyterian Church, or the "Old Church" as it is familiarly called. Dr. C. E. Knox, then pastor of the old church fostered and encouraged the movement. The first Board of Elders and Deacons were elected January 14, 1870. The present church edifice was dedicated on September 30, 1870. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler, of Brooklyn, preached the sermon. Dr. Duncan Kennedy was installed as pastor. Dr. Kennedy continued in charge until March, 1881. He was succeeded by Rev. Samuel Duffield who was installed in February, 1882. The church was called to mourn the death of its pastor, Mr. Duffield, which occurred on May 12, 1887. After the death of Mr. Duffield, Dr. Kennedy aided the church as far as his advanced age would permit, until his death, which occurred on December 30, 1887.

The present pastor, Rev. Geo. A. Paull, was called on January 17, 1888, and was installed on April 24th of the same year. Under his pastorate the church has continued on its prosperous career and at the celebration of the 20th anniversary, which occurred on December 15, 1889, the erection of a new church edifice began to be seriously considered, and has finally culminated in the undertaking of the present work. The present membership of the Westminster Church is 250. The church has fully recovered from the depletion of its membership caused by the organization of the Glen Ridge Congregational Church.

Marshall P. Wilder at Westminster.

When the audience gathered in Westminster last Wednesday evening they were astonished to see the piano just being unwrapped and put in place. At a few moments after eight it was announced that the first number on the programme, a trio for organ, violin and piano, would be changed to a violin solo, because the late arrival of a piano had made it impossible to tune the instruments together before the entertainment. Through some delay the piano ordered from Denckles & Son of Newark did not appear on time, and it was due to the courtesy and kindness of Mr. R. W. Gardner that the musicians were enabled to fill their parts.

Miss Alice Seymour gave two well rendered solos for the violin and was accompanied by Miss Maud Seymour and Miss Wrigley of Newark. Miss Wrigley's two piano solos were marked by exquisite sympathy of touch, as well as by technical skill. The first selection was Liszt's arrangement of Wagner's music for the death scene in "Tristan und Isolde;" and the second comprised one of Chopin's valses and the beautiful A flat ballade. To Miss Wrigley, whose services were so freely given, the King's Daughters, under whose control the entertainment was carried out, are most grateful.

Mr. Williams, of New York, helped to fill the programme by three tenor solos—"The Old Wherry" being perhaps, the most pleasing.

But all this was but the setting for the wit and graceful humor of Mr. Marshall P. Wilder. "Never mind me on the posters," said Mr. Wilder some weeks ago. "I'm too well known to need description." And it is quite true. Always remembering that fun to be of the right sort must be not only funny, but refined, Mr. Wilder never oversteps the line of division.

All these pleasant things, with a well filled house, gladdened the souls of the "Whatsoever Circle," and encouraged them in their work for the church. To this they desire to add their sincere thanks to all those who gave their assistance.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

A series of entertainments especially for the Boys' Branch will be given monthly at the temporary Y. M. C. A. Hall, 313 Glenwood avenue—the room formerly occupied by Ackerman's plumbing establishment. This room has been newly papered and painted throughout, and when fitted up with seats, will hold perhaps two hundred people. It will be used also this winter for the Gymnasium classes under Secretary Bowman's direction.

The first of the Boy's Entertainments will take place Friday evening, November 14th, when a programme of unusual interest will be given. As (intended to be) mentioned on this column last week, "The Mozart Club, a well-drilled orchestra of young people will furnish a specially enjoyable part of the programme for that evening." (The types made it read unintelligibly, "a special by enjoyable party, the programme" etc.) There will also be violin, piano and vocal solos and several recitations all by boys and girls, with songs by a boy's glee club recently organized, and other features of which THE CITIZEN will take note again at the proper time.

HERE AND THERE.

We are sorry that the members of the Fortnightly object to any account being given of their meetings, and of the papers read, and the discussions entered into. Such an account, we doubt not, would interest the readers of THE CITIZEN, and we trust that the club will reconsider their decision.

A dancing party will be given by Mrs. Fireng to her daughter, Miss Harriet Fireng, in Glen Ridge Hall on Friday, Nov. 14th.

Mrs. Amzi Dodd assisted at the supper table at the Chrysanthemum Show in Newark this week.

The opening reception of the Montclair Club is being given to-night (Friday.) A number of Bloomfielders will be present. Every effort has been made to make the reception a brilliant affair and it will no doubt prove so. Our sister town may well boast of her Club house, for there are very few such.

Mr. Charles T. Coggeshall has of late been the fortunate winner of several bicycle races. We are glad that the town is so well represented in this line. Mr. Leonard Richards has left for a short trip to Canada. Dr. William S. Dodd, a grandson of the late Zophar B. Dodd, and a former resident of our town, is now a medical missionary in Turkey, has written an article showing that drunkenness among the Mohammedans is not as common as is often supposed. The article has attracted considerable attention.

The white poles that have been put up along our thoroughfares are not ornamental though they will prove useful. Every precaution possible should be taken against fire and anything in the way of a fire alarm is to be welcomed. The poles are the means to an end, and we can forgive their ugliness when we remember their use.

What would life be without politics? For many, no doubt, hardly worth the living or rather for many life without politics would be dull indeed. Think of the thousands who feed at the public crib! Politics puts them there, politics keeps them there; for them "politics" is the beginning and the end of existence. Many of us are inclined to sniff at politics as dirty and impure, and consequently to keep out of them. Their impurity is a most urgent reason for our entering and trying to purify them. Every time we give this reason for our abstaining from politics we accuse ourselves of remissness. Politics will be unclean just so long as the best men in every community permit them to be so.

The writer had the pleasure this week of listening to an address by Mr. Bryce, Professor of law in the University of Oxford, England, member of Parliament, and author of that well known and most valuable work, "THE AMERICAN COMMONWEALTH." Mr. Bryce is between fifty and sixty years of age and is thoroughly English in appearance, dress and speech. He is a ready and clever speaker and his address was listened to with the greatest attention and pleasure.

Most ladies' and Children's outside garments are bought ready made nowadays. We can tell this from the constantly increasing sales in our Cloak Department, but there are a great many who still prefer to purchase the material and have their garments made according to a special idea, and then, too, one cannot always find what is wanted ready made.
In our Cloth Department you will see almost everything in the cloth line suitable for ladies and childrens wear.
Fine Black, Blue and High Colored Beavers, Wide Wale Diagonals, Worsteds of all kinds, Fancy English Sackings, Broadcloths and Plaid and Striped Cassimeres; also the trimmings requisite in making.
In this same department we sell cloth for Men's and Boys' suitings.
Trouserings, Overcoatings, etc., will be found, and considerable can be saved by purchasing the material from us and employing a tailor to make it up.
Give this plan a trial and save 15 per cent. on a suit of clothes.
Goods to the amount of two dollars or more delivered free of charge.
